

Please do something about all of the softcore porn, violence, and general poor morality that TV is littered with today. I am only 31 years old. I remember growing up and not seeing anything close to what I see on TV today. I have two kids ages 2 & 8. I cannot let them watch anything but PBS and Nickelodeon. All of the other channels are filled with sex, drugs, hate, and decadence. I have rights too. I have the right to raise kids who aren't continually baraged with such things. It seems the only way I can shield my kids from this is to move into a cave with Osama. And that is horribly sad. There is a time and place for such programming - after my kids have went to bed. I'm not saying I don't want you to show those kind of programs, I would however appreciate some tact and regard to the millions of children who are exposed to it on a daily basis. There a lots of parents who don't look out for their kids well being as they should. They use TV and playstation to raise their kids. Too much of anything is bad. Right now there is just too much "free speech" on TV. The children of America need your help. I guarantee a lot of their parents are not as involved with their children as I am. Please Help!
